

Parent Retreat Attendee Comments and Feedback

It was over-the-top awesome! Incredibly informative.

Great framework of his parenting philosophy combined with the freedom to interject and ask questions as he went along. This format was a key to the great success of the program.

I was utterly riveted by this experience and have talked non-stop to other parents about it, starting on the drive home each day from the conference!

I feel I have a lot of solid techniques to use at home, but the greatest gift is the empowerment I feel as a parent.

My husband and I thoroughly enjoyed the seminar. We laughed our way through this unique educational experience. We left the seminar armed with several techniques to try as our daughter grows through and past toddlerhood and, more importantly, an enlightened parenting perspective.

We will definitely recommend this seminar to other parents. We thought the format worked well and were comfortable with the amount of consideration afforded our specific questions. The interaction with other parents and insight derived from their situations was highly valuable. As novice parents, it was helpful to hear about the challenges presented by children at different ages and John's suggestions for modifying techniques to enhance effectiveness at any age. We were most impressed by John's calm, measured responses to the diverse questions posed to him.

Todd and I have been married for 5 1/2 years. This weekend was perhaps the best thing we've done to enhance our marriage. We are confident our relationship and family will continue to benefit from the lessons learned during this seminar.

We are deeply grateful for the opportunity to share this time and experience with John. We feel the Lord is using John, particularly within this format, as a disciple to the rest of us.

My husband and I absolutely loved the parenting seminar this past weekend and feel it is some of the best money we have spent on our marriage and kids. Gratefully, our children even presented us with immediate opportunities to practice our new skills and WOW, did they work!

It is hard to put into words really, but I will try. As a Rosemond reader for years, I was really excited about the opportunity to meet him and receive "personal coaching" shall we say. Our retreat was a small group of parents who really connected. Over the weekend, John was able to coach us in the fundamentals of leadership parenting and how to raise a well behaved child. My husband and I just remain so thankful that there is John Rosemond to guide us in the traditional model of parenting. I highly recommend the up close and personal retreat weekend. John and his wife Willie are delightful people and a true asset to parents today.
