

Reno, NV Weekend Parenting Retreat—April 16-17, 2010

A John Rosemond Parenting Retreat Weekend has been scheduled for Reno, NV on April 16-17, 2010. The location of the retreat is still TBD. Check back for more details.

John has been holding these intensive and highly individualized “re-parenting” experiences all over the USA for the past eight years. Attendance is limited to twenty persons, comprised of couples and single parents.

Friday and Saturday’s sessions commence at 9:00 a.m. (preceded by coffee and continental service) at the same location and wrap at 4:00 p.m. on Friday and 3:00 p.m. on Saturday. All participants are on their own for lunch. In addition to presenting the workshop content, John provides plenty of time for questions and discussion of individual parenting issues.

In total, every participant or couple will benefit from approximately 14 workshop hours, during which John will present fundamental concepts for establishing functional parenting leadership and disciplinary tools for solving a broad range of problem areas, including classroom issues. The retreat is appropriate for parents of children of all ages, but John will be focusing on what he calls “The Decade of Discipline,” ages 3 through 12. Just a few of the topics John will cover include:

- Mastering “Alpha Parenting”
- Pay Less Attention, Be Less Involved, Be Happier, Grow Happier Kids
- Using Consequences Effectively
- Solving Bedtime Problems, Mealtime Issues, and Sibling Conflict
- Putting a End to Defiance, Disrespect, and Arguments
- Eliminating Curfew Issues, Allowance Issues, and Conflict with Teens

Cost for the entire retreat is $695 per couple or $349 for a single parent. This price does not include travel and hotel expenses. All of those expenses are to be paid for by the attendees.

Parents can register or obtain further information by calling Katharine Sanford at 770-432-0776.
